

Martina Miegel

martina.miegel@coverdale.de
Consultant, trainer, partner

"My guiding principle is respect for people and their differences and trust in their capabilities. I hope to provoke laughter in people, so that they do not lose sight of the lightness of life."

Consulting and training focuses

- Development and implementation of long-term management development programs for various target groups – from trainees to high potentials
- Consulting in change processes
- Planning and conduct of workshops designed to improve internal and external co-operation
- Delivering of selection and promotion assessment centers
- Coaching for managers and management teams
- Conflict management and mediation
- Consulting and guidance for real projects – e.g. the introduction of SAP
- Courses/seminars in team development, project management, conflict management, leadership, negotiation and facilitation

Languages

- German
- English

Professional profile

Education and training

- Degree in Psychology (Dipl.-Psychologin), University of Hamburg
- Training as a facilitator and trainer
- Training as a consultant and trainer at Coverdale Germany
- Three-year training program in integrative physical and psychotherapy
- Training as an organizational development consultant

Professional experience

- Freelance trainer/consultant
- Consultant/trainer at a corporate consulting firm in Frankfurt
- With Coverdale since 1994, including 3.5 years on the Management Team